

Tips for Stewardship upon the Passing of a Donor

- 1. Obtain funeral, shiva and memorial gift information from synagogue, obituary or family.
- 2. Email Board, Legacy Committee members and appropriate staff with funeral and shiva information. Make sure to share the donor's relationship to your organization.
- 3. If the donor has shared a testimonial or prepared a Book of Life statement, contact the Rabbi to see if this information would be helpful in the preparation of a eulogy. If so, forward.
- 4. If you have knowledge of them, notify other community organizations with which the donor had strong relationship.
- 5. Make sure the appropriate person from your organization attends the funeral and/or makes a shiva call.
- 6. Mail a sympathy card(s) or letter(s) to surviving spouse and children. If the donor has prepared a testimonial or prepared a Book of Life statement, consider including a copy.
- 7. Make a tribute donation in memory of the donor, if appropriate.
- 8. Mark donor deceased in appropriate databases and note date of death in electronic and paper files.
- 9. If your organization's practice, mark donor of blessed memory in all listings wherever his/her name appears.
- 10. If you maintain a Yahrzeit Listing, add to this list.
- 11. Add a tickler to calendar to send a personal note out to the family upon anniversary of donors passing.
- 12. Review Legacy Gift Confirmation paperwork.
- 13. Publish a story about the donor honoring them for their legacy commitment to the community. May want to get approval from the family in advance of publication.
- 14. At appropriate time (3-6 months) advise/contact Professional Advisors if you have not heard from them and if known.
- 15. When receive legacy gift, send personal note to the family acknowledging receipt and expressing gratitude and appreciation for donor's commitment to organization/cause.
- 16. Check archives to gather photos or videos or other material and put together a package for the family. If possible, deliver it in person and spend time going over the memories.
